SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS 1936 REVENUE ACT

RELIEF BILLS ARE LEFT UP TO COMMON PLEAS

Commissioners File Action Against County
Auditor

IRWIN REFUSES,
BACKED BY STATE

Hearing On $39,045 Writ
Of Mandamus Scheduled Today

LISBON, May 17.—Columbiana county commissioners today filed a writ of mandamus in common pleas court seeking to compel County Auditor John H. Irwin of East Palestine to pay one month's relief bills amounting to exactly $39,045.44.

The debt covers a period from April 15 to the present time, during which time the commissioners cared for indigents throughout the county.

Auditor Irwin refuses to pay the bills, backed by an opinion from Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy at Columbus. The attorney general last week ruled the commissioners had contracted the bills illegally since the state relief organization had been dissolved, throwing the burden of the care of relief clients back to the cities and townships.

The case between the commissioners and the auditor may be heard today by Common Pleas Judge W. F. Lones of Wellsville.

The writ of mandamus was filed after the commissioners failed to hear from the attorney general on a second request for an opinion relative to the payment of the incurred relief bills.

County Prosecutor Karl Stouffer was to represent the commissioners at the hearing today, while Assistant Prosecutor Louis Tobin was to present the auditor's side of the issue.

The relief situation throughout the county continued in somewhat of a muddle today as neither city nor township knew exactly what to do towards the care of their relief clients.

FIVE INJURED OVER WEEKEND

Casualties in Traffic Accident of Minor Nature, However

Five Salem persons suffered minor injuries in traffic accidents in the district over the weekend, police reports show.

Mrs. John Floyd of 910 East Fifth st., was treated at City hospital at 8:45 p. m. Sunday for an injury to her right knee, suffered a few minutes earlier when her husband's automobile was struck from behind on East State st. near Penn ave. by another machine driven by Robert Greenwalt. Mrs. Floyd was thrown against the dash board. Greenwalt told police his brakes failed to hold.

Louis L. Wisner of 172 Jennings ave., received a head cut when his car and one driven by John Morgan of Akron figured in a minor collision on Route 224, one mile west of Deerfield, at 1:30 a. m. Sunday. State Patrolman F. S. Van Allen said.

Paul Bradley, 20, of 325 Rose ave., Betty Beck, 14, and Celia Bradley, 14, escaped with slight face lacerations and bruises, when their automobile, driven by Paul Bradley, crashed into the rear of a machine driven by R. B. Mellott of Beloit on Route 62, at Westville, at midnight Saturday. Patrolman Van Allen said the mishap occurred as Mellott drove out of a side road directly in front of Bradley's car.

No one was injured in a three-car collision on Route 45 at Eagle-ton's Glen, south of Salem, at 3:30 p. m. Saturday. State patrolmen, the sheriff's deputies reported. The drivers were those driven by Harold Dixon of Lisbon, H. N. Willener of Pottstown, Pa., and Henry Andur of Pittsburgh.

NEW CIVIL WAR PREMIER BEGINS DIFFICULT TASK

"Win the War" Government Sought In Reorganization

LARGO CABALLERO
CABINET RESIGNS

New Man of Hour Former University Medical Professor

(By Associated Press)
VALENCIA, Spain, May 17.—Dr. Juan Negrin, Socialist former minister of the treasury, began today an effort to form Spain's sixth civil war government.

President Manuel Azana, called from virtual retirement to find a "win the war" government after Premier Francisco Largo Caballero was forced to resign, selected Dr. Negrin as premier-designate after he had talked with both the treasury minister and with Diego Martinez Barrio, president of congress.

Fails to Obtain Support
Largo Caballero, asked first to try a new government, failed to obtain the support of all parties.

Dr. Negrin, the new man of the hour, is 48 years old and a former professor of medicine in the University of Madrid. He is an outstanding medical man and long an active Socialist. He served several congressional terms and entered the first Largo Caballero cabinet last September as treasury minister.

All the important elements that supported Largo Caballero's united front cabinet expressed opposition to the stern, gray-haired leader who guided Spain through more than eight months of civil war.

Socialist leaders refused to participate in any government which did not have Communist support, and the left Republicans backed Communist demands for a stronger war policy, reorganization of the general staff, and separation of the premiership from the war ministry. Among the leaders called to the presidential palace to confer over the crisis were Pireto, Jose Giral Pereira, former premier, and Diego Martinez Barrio, president of the cortes.

Other Possibilities
Also considered as possibilities as the new premier were Julio Alvarez Comen, foreign minister in the last government, and Julian Besteiro, former minister to the Hague who is at present in London as a special coronation representative of the Spanish republic.

The recent anarchist riots in Barcelona and other sections of Catalonia were described as the cause of the government's fall. Foreign Minister Del Vayo was reported to have severely criticized the interior ministry's handling of the outbreak.

The reply of the interior minister, Angel Galarza, was said to have been unsatisfactory to the Communist members who thereupon announced their intention of withdrawing from the government.

Adding to Valencia's difficulties was the grim aftermath of a Saturday night insurgent air raid. This raid left approximately 40 dead and considerable damage.

STUDENTS HEAR GUIDANCE TALKS

Vocational Program Designed To Give Graduates, Other Students,
Points on Careers

Seniors at the High school and interested under-graduates this week are benefiting from a guidance program, arranged by school officials through the cooperation of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs.

The program featuring daily talks by the business and professional men, is designed to give the students an insight into the various occupations and aid them in deciding what line of work they wish to follow after graduation.

The pupils met in room 309 this afternoon to hear an address by Atty Charles McCormick on "Law as a Profession." Tomorrow the students will hear Francis J. Wise, managing editor of The News, discuss journalism.

Two speakers will be heard Wednesday—Mrs. Robert Davis and Mrs. James Hill, who will outline social service work. Other speakers will be from the medical profession, banking, engineering and the skilled trades.

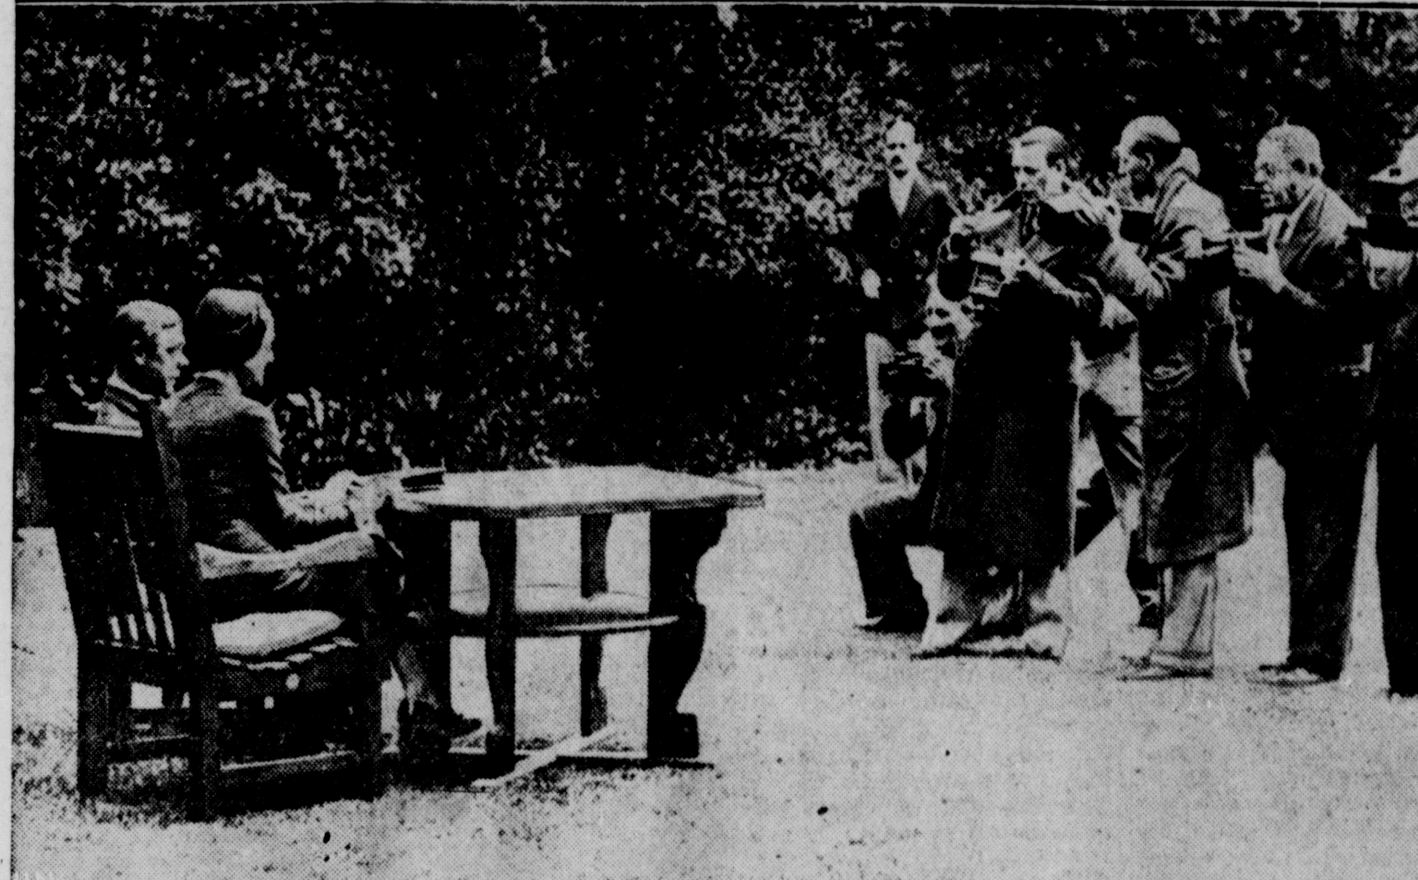

Recently the girls at the High school heard an interesting talk by Miss Mary Louise Tracy, of the City hospital staff, concerning nursing.

GRANGE ADOPTS PEACE POLICY

Conscript Wealth, as Well
As Men, in Wartime,
Recommendation

Several hundred persons rallied in Willow Grove, grange hall Saturday afternoon and evening for the Columbiana county Pomona grange session. A basket dinner was served at 1:00 p. m., followed by a lunch in the evening.

An interesting program was presented, during which the grangers acted on several resolutions, one of which was: Resolved, that all taxes collected for highway improvement should be used for that purpose alone.

Taking a definite stand for peace, the grange members passed a resolution calling for taking the profits from war, and in the event of a conflict, conscription of wealth as well as man-power.

Believing that the evil effects of strong drink should be publicized, Pomona grange drafted another resolution to that effect.

County Extension Agent Floyd Lower gave a short talk at the meeting concerning a canning contest. Railroad stories and talks were given by Sidney Friends and W. J. Brittain, both of Richmond, Ind. Evelyn Barnett told of her recent trip to Washington, D. C.

The rest of the program included: Song and dance, Louise Marjorie Hanna and Mary Louise Mason; playlet by Mosier brothers from Guilford grange; poem, "No One Like Mother," Zoe Holmes of Mile Branch grange; song, Clewell brothers of Guilford grange, and evening paper by the Clewell family.

The Columbiana county fifth degree team initiated nine candidates. Music was provided by the Kensington grange orchestra.

7th Grader Felix Antonio Captures St. Paul's Title

Mows Down Five Other Room Champs In News' Marble Tourney and Joins Finalist Group

The Salem News marble tournament crowned its fourth school champion this morning as Felix Antonio, stocky-built seventh grader, swept aside all opposition in winning the finals at St. Paul's parochial school.

Antonio, 13, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Antonio of 513 Walnut st., faced five other room champions and defeated them all with comparative ease to annex the St. Paul's championship and win one of The News medals.

He encountered his stiffest opposition against Dick Culbertson of sixth grade, but won this match by the somewhat one-sided score of 7 to 4. His other victories were over Paul Miglarini of fifth grade, 7 to 2; John Kryk of fourth grade, 7 to 0, and little Joe Steffel of third grade, 7 to 3.

Miglarini captured runner-up honors for St. Paul's school with four wins and one defeat in his five matches. Culbertson and Kryk tied for third place with two victories and three set-backs each, while Steffel and Yahanak tied for last position with one win and four defeats apiece.

British Press Is Arguing Recognition For Duchess

Shall It Be "Her Royal Highness" or Just "The Duchess" Is Controversial Point

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, May 17.—The British press today brought out into the open the controversy over a royal recognition of Mrs. Wallis Warfield by a controversy of its own over the possibility of the formal announcement of her engagement to the Duke of Windsor by King George VI himself.

While the Sunday Referee reported the king was ready to extend the royal family's sanction of the match by announcing the betrothal of his brother and the woman for whom Edward gave up his throne, the Express said such a move was impossible.

"Ecclesiastical objections" to Mrs. Warfield as a twice-divorced person, the Express said, prevented the king from taking any such action.

The Sunday Referee, which has not always been correct in its information concerning the abdicated monarch and his American fiancée, predicted King George would announce his brother's engagement this week.

"It will be the royal family's first public recognition of the duke's association with Mrs. Warfield," the Referee declared.

The likely form for the announcement to take, the paper said, would be: "The king learns with pleasure of the betrothal of his brother to x x x."

Even the Sunday Referee, however, did not fill out the style with which Mrs. Warfield would be designated, a question vexing court circles almost as much as the romance which brought about Edward's abdication and paved the way for George's coronation last Wednesday.

The king alone, court circles agreed, must determine whether or not Mrs. Warfield will become

They were stunned and suffered first degree burns but were not considered seriously injured.

LEVY ON CHAIN STORES UPHELD

Louisiana Statute Constitutional, Supreme Court Rules

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 17.—The supreme court held constitutional today a 1934 Louisiana statute imposing a graduated license tax on chain stores based on the number of units operated throughout the nation and elsewhere.

A ruling by a three-judge federal district court at New Orleans sustaining the levy was affirmed. Justice Roberts delivered the 4 to 3 decision. Justices Sutherland, McReynolds and Butler dissented. Justices Vandevanter and Stone did not participate in the decision.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea company and 12 other corporations attacked the law which levied taxes ranging from $10 to $550 per store.

Compares Levies
Because it had 15,084 establishments throughout the nation and in Canada, the A. & P. company said it was taxed $550 for each of its 106 stores in Louisiana. It added that one of its competitors, H. G. Hill Store's Inc., which operates 87 stores in New Orleans, has to pay only $30 per store.

The A. & P. contended that if the act were upheld "the era of the national chain is over" and "it may perhaps also be said that the era of national corporations and of firms or individuals doing business in more than one state is over." It asserted that sustaining the levy would "open the door to the application of a similar theory to franchise, income and other taxes."

Roberts asserted that "the policy Louisiana is free to adopt with respect to the business activities of her own citizens she may apply to the citizens of other states who conduct the same business within her borders, and this irrespective of whether the evils requiring regulation arise solely from operations

SECURITY DECISION DELAYED

Louisiana ChainStore
Tax Statute Also Approved

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 17.—The supreme court failed today to pass on constitutionality of the Federal Social Security Act.

Before adjourning until next Monday it announced opinions in nine cases. The social security decision will be delivered either next Monday or on Tuesday, June 1, when the court adjourns for the summer.

Major Decision
The major decision today upheld provisions of the 1936 revenue act barring refund of $963,000,000 of processing and floor stock taxes collected under the invalidated agricultural adjustment act unless the tax payer proved that he bore the cost himself.

Another decision held constitutional a 1934 Louisiana statute imposing a graduated license tax on chain stores, based on the number of units operated throughout the state and elsewhere.

Nineteen decisions remain for delivery during the next two opinion sessions.

Chief Justice Hughes, delivering the 8 to 1 opinion on the revenue question said:

"We conclude that the authorized procedure provides for a full and fair hearing and determination of all matters of fact and that, through judicial review, it provides for the protection of all the legal rights of the petitioner including any constitutional right which it may be entitled to invoke with respect to the refund which it seeks."

Major Decision
The petitioner may thus obtain through this proceeding whatever judgment its case warrants, a judgment which the government, by virtue of the requirement that the commissioner (of internal revenue) shall make refund accordingly, binds itself to pay."

Administration officials engaged in attempting to balance the budget expressed gratification at the court's decision.

It was delivered on litigation by

Beloit Man Named As New President Of Church Assembly

NORTH GEORGETOWN, May 17.—L. H. Glase of Beloit, who was made vice president of the Four Township Sunday School association when the organization was founded 10 years ago, has been elected president for 1937-38. The spring convention in Reading Church of the Brethren near North Georgetown, closed Saturday.

Glase, a member of Sebring United Presbyterian church, was named to succeed Mrs. Rena Whiteleather of North Georgetown Lutheran church, who served four years as president. He held the vice presidency in 1936-37.

A feature of the election was the naming of one vice president for each of the four townships included in the association. This was carried out in accordance with a recent change in the constitution and resulted in Paul Alberts of Sebring United Presbyterian church becoming vice president for Smith township; Charles Malmstrom, East Goshen Friends, Goshen township; Donald Atram, North Georgetown Lutheran, Knox township; and Lowell Whinnery, Winona Methodist, Buffalo township.

Sumner Oesch of the Sebring Presbyterian church, who conceived and organized the association, and served as its first president, was re-elected secretary for the coming year and Miss Mabel Sanor of Reading Brethren church was re-named treasurer. Re-election of Oesch places him in an office for the 11th consecutive year. Tribute for this service was paid him by Supt. S. H. Pollock of Sebring in a talk on the history of the organization.

Mrs. Whiteleather and Miss Sanor were given handbags in recognition of their work with the association.

GUIDANCE

When President Roosevelt returned to Washington from a fishing trip in 1934 he was met at the station by an official delegation of approximately 250 congressmen, plainly relieved at the return of a guiding hand. They had marched to the station behind a band to greet their leader.

The legislative majority had been floundering. When Republicans sarcastically proposed a homecoming celebration for Mr. Roosevelt, Democrats took them seriously. They weren't even bothered when someone referred to it as the first American coronation.

When the President returned to Washington Friday from his spring vacation there were no exercises. Congress has been in the doldrums. As long as Mr. Roosevelt insists on having his own way about packing the supreme court, all other business is secondary.

It is believed the President will confer immediately with his administration's congressional leaders on the state of his legislative program. In previous years, when he has done this, things have been straightened out quickly, causing many to believe he had another reason besides his health for taking a vacation in the spring while congress worked for a few weeks without his guidance.

Thus, when his vacation plans were announced this year, it was predicted congress would get into a snarl, he would return to straighten it out and the session would end with a bang. That still may happen. But in Washington news recently there has been an undertone of discontent unlike anything heard before during Mr. Roosevelt's administration—a half-spoken desire, not for guidance but for a cessation of the kind of guidance which has led congress into the blind alley of judicial reorganization.

TRIAL

The threat of a labor tieup in steel, which has been a disturbing factor for many months, still looms. Developments which temporarily stabilized labor relations in the industry did not satisfy all producers, some of whom are plainly unwilling to compromise with their known beliefs.

As was foreseen, steel still promises to be a major test for the principle of labor organization being preached by John Lewis and SWOC, which represents the CIO movement in the ranks of steel workers.

CIO has its roots in governmental policy, as set forth in the national labor relations act. This law deals with a vast and controversial subject in a meager and arbitrary manner. It is not surprising that a deadlock has resulted.

The law does not say, or even imply, that an employer must make a contract with a labor organization. It does not say, or even imply, that a labor organization can get exclusive bargaining rights by asking for them. It does say that the law's purpose is "to diminish the causes of labor disputes burdening or obstructing interstate and foreign commerce..." That's something to think about.

A law which does not work is not a good law. Suggestions that the labor act should be clarified to make it a better law than it possibly can be in its present form have been turned aside with appeals that it be given a period of trial, to see what its weaknesses are.

It shouldn't be difficult for those who are interested in the law and in the labor movement it was designated to promote—and who isn't?—to pick a few weaknesses at random as the first big test of the act since it was upheld by the supreme court begins to take shape.

TEN LONG YEARS

Dick Merrill and his co-pilot, Jack Lambie, who reached their starting point safely Friday afternoon after a round-trip flight to England, will not get any extraordinary amount of attention.

It is Merrill's second round trip flight to England within a year. There may be more. The project of establishing scheduled flights already has gone through the paper stage and is beginning to take form in surveys and equipments.

Ten years ago, Charles A. Lindbergh was getting ready to fly to Paris. He did it and became a hero. This is material for an interval of speculation. It is recommended particularly to persons who insist the world doesn't change, or at least doesn't change rapidly enough to suit them.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, May 17—Day: A patter of rain as day broke. So early up and notes from Joe Cook, Zoe Beckley, and Dorothy Hall. And a hamper of fruit Dick Berlin sent from Florida. Then setting out to drop in on Faith Baldwin in Connecticut but such a downpour we turned back.

In the afternoon Gene Crawley, a prudent and foreseeing fellow, sat awhile. And came a bewitching lady from an advertising agency to fob me up with fair speech about a radio broadcast engagement. But I had the good reasoning to say nay and stick to my lot.

To a tasty dinner with Will and Jessie Hays at L'Aperitif and heard first hand of their meeting the Pope and Mussolini in Italy. And the way home put in at Trans-Lux and tittered so uproariously at Donald Duck as an Alpine climber that many seemed annoyed: So home feeling foggy and such to bed.

Achmed Abdullah is the only writer of swash-bucklers I know who suggests his fictional romances. He is military looking and, with monocle clapped in eye and hat rakishly just so, seems eager and ready for adventure. And he has been in the midst of many excitements both in Central Europe and the Orient. He was born in Paris, educated in England and is married to the popular literary agent, Jean Wilk. Most romantic fictioners are shy, bald and squint-eyed, who would look at home on a bookkeeper's stool.

They still talk along the Rialto about the showmanship of James Barton that night this winter when Maud O'Dell, the amorous Sister Bessie of "Tobacco Road", expired between curtains after the first act. Her role was a prominent one and yet Barton, by an amazing touch of ad libbing, held the performance together. So much so the audience did not know death had stalked back stage. Some of Miss O'Dell's lines were read from the wings. Her understudy, who had been present for the three years in which Miss O'Dell never missed a performance, was given an evening off on the fatal night, shortly after the curtain rose, and could not be found.

Civilization note: A hundred years ago if one missed the stage coach for Philadelphia there would be another along in three days. But today if we miss one panel of a revolving door, we are upset the rest of the day.

There is a now-established cartoonist who will permit no jeers for Texas Guinan in his presence. The cartoonist was doing thumbnail cuts for a newspaper column when Texas wrote in to the editor: "Tell that fellow who illustrates that column to sign his name bigger. He's good." The artist had been rattling around for years, getting nowhere, when the editor, nudged by the Guinan boost, began to notice him. He was given more important features to illustrate and finally became an editorial page cartoonist with a quick jump to the important money division.

When I read something like this as I did the other day in a national weekly magazine, I think of the advice of Jessie Rainford Sprague: "The door, a huge, ancient one, swung slowly open, revealing in the dimly lit hallway a shadowy figure of a girl, a wan, tired, care-burdened figure, etc." It was Sprague who said the first duty of every writer was to watch his adjectives and use them sparingly. Sprague, a great short story writer, is regarded by editors as the skimpiest of all with adjectives. He sticks to noun and verb, subject and predicate and it is remarkable what forward-running stories he spins.

A psychologist declares that New York has several hundred romanticists who appear to the public as prosaic. And that is true the world over. G. K. Chesterton in England admitted that the Inverness cape which he wore, and the sword cane he carried were because all his life he has hoped to unhealth his sword and rescue a lady in distress."

Bagatelles: Charlie Chaplin cannot talk business to any man behind a desk. His youth was filled with rebuffs over a desk top... Paterson Dial, who is writing such dandy fiction, is Mrs. Rupert Hughes in private life... Ben Ames Williams works feverishly for three months and rests one... Lanny Ross was christened Lancelot Patrick Ross.

A brightie barging up to the newsstand in the Algonquin for a stamp. When the attendant inquired what kind, he said: "One with a picture of Ina Claire on it. I'm tired of those generals."

THERE IS one structure of the body that makes men conscious of advancing age. I refer to a prostate gland which has become enlarged, inflamed and causes a great deal of discomfort.

Perhaps a third of all men over 40 years of age suffer in some manner from a disturbance in this organ. Few other physical disabilities have received as much attention in the past quarter of a century as hypertrophy or enlargement of the prostate.

When I was a young physician, this was regarded by the public as a serious ailment. The victim from fear of the operation avoided the doctor. There was good ground for this, because the operation had a very high percentage of mortality.

Today the outlook is entirely different. The dangers of the operation for prostatic hypertrophy have been materially lessened, and it is no longer considered to be so serious. In the majority of cases relief is prompt and permanent. In an aggravated case delay is far more dangerous than the removal of the prostate could possibly be.

Function Unknown

The gland, found only in the male, is located in the neck of the bladder.

Like the appendix, we do not know the actual function of the prostate gland. We do know it can be removed without any ill effects from its loss.

The enlargement takes place gradually, usually over a period of several years. The victim notices progressive difficulty in urination. It may be necessary to void frequently and consequently the sleep is disturbed at night. If the condition is neglected, and the enlargement progresses, there may be pronounced symptoms from the obstruction.

As a result of the damming back of the urine, the bladder sometimes becomes infected. In rare cases the infection may go up to one of both kidneys. Absorption of poisons develops in such cases may produce weakness of the heart and damage of the blood vessels.

Of course, not all cases of prostate hypertrophy need be operated. The congestion and swelling may be relieved by simple prostatic massage. Conservative treatment, with particular attention to the diet, may be sufficient to effect a cure. The exact type of treatment can only be determined by your doctor.

Answers to Health Queries

Anxious X. Q.—I have a friend who suffers from "biliousness" and sees flashes of light before her eyes in the darkness. She also suffers from numbness of the hands. She is very nervous but seems to be in otherwise good health. What would you advise in this case?

A.—Your friend should watch her diet and elimination. She should get more outdoor exercise and make every effort to improve her general health and resistance. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Dr. Copeland is glad to answer inquiries from readers who send an addressed, stamped envelope with their questions. Address all letters to Dr. Copeland, New York City.

2 "Now disconnect those hydraulics!" And back they go over the same route, for a special test with hydraulics purposely cut off. What! No brakes at all? Wait and see. Again, as they come to the line, Bill puts his foot down... and again, a quick, smooth stop. The same foot pedal did the trick. No fumbling for the emergency brake!

3 "Three separate braking systems!" Only Hudson and Terraplane have brakes like these. Big, powerful hydraulics... with a safety reserve braking system operating from the same foot pedal if ever needed. Plus a third system in the handy parking brake up at the instrument board... with extra easy finger-touch release.

CHAPTER XVII

Sandy went into the office. There were a number of envelopes, addressed, sealed and stamped. The door of the safe was closed and that would not be easy to open and Sandy thought of the will that Isobel told him was kept in it. He wondered if it were still there and how he could determine this.

"That damned elephant was admitted last night," Vinckers said. "Mike told me that he slipped his chain and went for a ramble. Isobel shackled him too loosely, and Mike never noticed it. The natives reported that he was roaming over the plantations."

"Has he come back?" Sandy asked.

"Yes, he was standing by Mike's quarters when he woke up. Scratching his side on the corner of the shack."

Vinckers made no attempt at the revelation of Isobel, but the others did it for him. Asking no questions at all, Sandy was able, through the others' volunteered, to account for practically all of Vinckers' time from the moment he went to bed until the early morning hours. His snores in the night, and at about two, Jarvis awoke with a dry throat and noticed a peculiar musky odor.

"Nothing so new," said this unevolved soul with shameless candor. "The sort of sweetish bestial perfume that I've got once or twice before I began to see things. Goes with booze fumes. This time though I had a feeling that it must be real, so instead of hanging on to Flavia I got up and looked out the window. It was a combination of elephant and goat. They were both down there, just outside the office."

"Was the office lighted?" Sandy asked.

"Yes. The light was streaming out. Mouse had got loose and come up to look for the governor. It seemed to me he ought to be cooped up again, so I slipped in and managed to wake up Vinck."

"Why didn't you ring for a servant, or go for Mike?" Sandy asked.

"The servants all sleep over in their barracks and the big brute gets my goat. So does the other goat. They didn't look so good down there. Gave me the weewaws. Vinck took some waking, and then Hester roused and wanted to know what was up and told me to go back and sleep it off. I went down then after a little drink, and when I came back up and looked out those blood brothers had moved on."

Vinckers' alibi seemed pretty sound, Sandy thought, unless they were all lying, had a dovetailing report to shield Vinckers from suspicion. But Sandy thought they were telling the truth. He picked up the pile of letters on the desk and ran them through his hands, scanning the addresses. Then he saw something, and immediately something more.

The office had evidently not been tidied, nothing put in order. Its whole expression, the placing of things and their misplacing took suddenly to Sandy's eyes a definite picture. This formed itself not in separate detail, but in a combination of details. No deduction was required to appreciate its character. Its story, though for the sake of a better mental vision he now passed its salient features swiftly in review as a sort of check, to crystallize his thought.

Isobel, he perceived in that instant of illumination, had not left the office deliberately and of her own free will and accord. Her exit, though no evidence of any struggle was apparent, had yet not been orderly. She had been picked up and carried out of there while sitting at the desk, engaged in writing and the examination of papers.

Such was Sandy's total perception. Its details, while few, were significant. The heavy inkwell seemed to have been brushed back until it stood perilously close to the edge of the desk, and nobody had bothered to replace it. There was a broad smear of dried but still fresh ink to show the line of its movement. Some papers were lying on the floor, close to the desk on the side of the open window of which the jalousies had been raised for freer air. The heavy modern swivel chair was not slightly turned, as apt to rest on a person's leaving it, but in a half circumference, so that its back was toward the desk. A corner of the rug beneath it was scuffed up.

Sandy looked toward the big window. "Were the jalousies . . . these Venetian shutters down?" he asked.

"No," Flavia said. "I heard Isobel pull them up when Jarvis was trying to wake up Vinck. It was a stuffy night, and she must have wanted to get what air was stirring. Funny . . . there's her tulle scarf hanging on the end of them."

Sandy had already got this detail. It was part of the picture to draw itself so suddenly. Isobel would be orderly in her movements, he felt sure. She would scarcely have hauled up the shutters with her scarf hanging there.

"These letters might as well be sent," he said.

"I'll look after them," Hester told him, a little shortly.

"The safe was open, I suppose?" Sandy made his tone casual.

"No," Vinckers said. "It was closed and locked. It can stay that way until we've combed the island for Isobel. I think we're all needlessly upset. She's somewhere round. Gone on some errand, or perhaps merely wanting to be alone for a little while. There's not a soul here that would harm her. In her present state of mind our feelings are the least of her cares."

Hester was looking fixedly at Sandy. "I believe you know something, Mr. Crew."

"Well, I don't. But I agree with your husband that she's not so very far away. It would be natural for her to want to go somewhere to think quietly and undisturbed, and she might have lain down in some little nook or corner and fallen asleep."

Hester nodded. "Yes, after working all night."

Sambo came to the door to say breakfast was ready. Jarvis and Vinckers went into the dining room and poured themselves some cognac at the sideboard.

"You had better have a bite to eat before starting on a search," Hester said to Sandy. She looked rather badly, he thought.

"I'll go out aboard and send my motor dinghy to circle the island, close into the shore," he said, and went out through the big open window. Going down to the landing he whistled for the boat and when it came in gave instructions to the quartermaster. Then, without returning to the house, he made his way down to where Mouse was quartered. Mike, valeting the elephant, looked up enquiringly.

For a few moments Mouse rocked gently back and forth. Had one been standing at his side he might have seen the deep wells of reflection in the wise eyes. Then, like any other great fabric to obey the impulse of the human will, Mouse moved slowly forward, increased his pace, and under no guidance beyond the ample one of its deep understanding swung off on the trail that led through the plantations.

MORE THOUGHT IS GIVEN TO THE EYES

It is true that more thought is being given to eye welfare than ever before. Yet much still remains to be recognized by the public. Errors of vision and their detrimental effects are more prevalent than is generally supposed. Every reader of our talks should ask himself seriously if he is sure about his eyes. If not, he should have them examined at once.

Today the sport of fencing puts much the same value on healthy nerves and unfailing alertness as did the deadly duels of long ago.

ONLY slow motion movies could show you all the brilliance of Joanna de Tuscan's darting sword play. Attack—parry—riposte—happen too quickly for the eye to follow. In Joanna de Tuscan's own words: "A person who didn't have nerve control would never stand out in fencing. My No. 1 reason for smoking Camels is—they never jangle my nerves. Camel is the cigarette that I find permits me to smoke as often as I please. It's Camels for me 'for digestion's sake' too. They're so mild they never make my throat harsh."

DOROTHY KILGALLEN, girl reporter, was assigned to break the women's globe-circling record. She did—in 24½ days! "I was glad to have Camels with me," she says. "I know they don't frazzle the nerves—ever!"

HE BROKE the world's indoor record in the 440-yard dash twice in one day. Ray Ellinwood says: "Jittery nerves are a big bugaboo to a track man. Smoking Camels never jangles my nerves. I find that I can enjoy Camels without stint."

merely Duchess of Windsor or will take precedence as "Her Royal Highness, the Duchess of Windsor."

Edward, feeling such a style was due his bride, was reported to have insisted that his younger brother make it clear she would take her husband's rank and be "H. R. H."

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, backed by the church and some court circles, was generally considered to be leading the opposition to conferring royal status on the woman.

In the meantime, Mrs. Warfield's assumption of that name for the ceremony with Windsor was made completely legal through publication of the deed poll, by which she dropped her divorced husband's name of Simpson.

Document Published As required by law, the formal document was circulated for the information of the public in morning newspapers.

The notice, buried in the advertising columns among attorneys' announcements, read:

"Notice is hereby given that by deed poll, dated the seventh day of May, 1937, I, Wallis Warfield, formerly of 5 Brynston court, county of London, now residing at the Chateau de Candé, Monts, province of Indre et Loire, France, formerly Bessie Wallis Simpson, have renounced and abandoned my Christian name of Bessie and also have renounced and abandoned my surname of Simpson, and in lieu of such surname assume the surname of Warfield.

"Dated this fourteenth day of May, 1937.

"Wallis Warfield (Signed)." Announcement of the wedding date and list of wedding guests was expected tomorrow afternoon at the Chateau de Candé where the couple are guests.

THEATER Attractions

Annabella, a charming French actress, and Henry Fonda are the stars of "Wings of the Morning," an all-technicolor film which will be shown at the State Tuesday and Wednesday.

Annabella, descendant of a famous gypsy princess, and the old princess herself are owners of a horse, "Wings of the Morning," which the gypsy is planning to enter in the English derby to win a dowry for Annabella so that she may marry her Spanish fiancé.

Horse Is Lost

However, Annabella trades "Wings" with Henry Fonda, a young Irish trainer. She and Fonda are sent by the gypsy to get the horse back after it has become lost through a series of transactions.

Until this time Fonda did not know that Annabella was a girl for he had seen her only in boy's clothes. He undertakes the training of Wings and takes Annabella to a party at her ancestral home where John McCormack sings.

Fonda, who is in love with Annabella, knows that if the horse wins the derby, she will marry her Spanish sweetheart. Nevertheless, when her jockey breaks his leg he arranges for his own to ride for her. The jockey's role is taken by the celebrated English jockey, Steve Donaghue.

The picture is unusual in plot and performance, both being unusually good, while the technicolor work on the scenes is splendid.

Concludes Tonight

Concluding at the State tonight is the blithe comedy of love, "Cafe Metropole," with Loretta Young, Tyrone Power and Adolphe Menjou, plus many well-known screen favorites.

"Let's Get Married" and "Hit the Saddle" fill a double bill at the Grand tonight and Tuesday.

Ida Lupino and Ralph Bellamy are teamed with Walter Connolly, Reginald Denny and Raymond Walburn in the first film. The story is concerned with the effort of a politician, Walter Connolly, to crash into high society by marrying his daughter, Ida Lupino, to playboy Reginald Denny. But his plans are upset by handsome Ralph Bellamy, a truculent weather observer.

The second feature, "Hit the Saddle," is a western with Rau Corrigan, Bob Livingston and Max Terhune filling the important roles opposite Rita Cansino, Spanish dancer.

Continued Business Expansion Reported By Sinclair Company Distributor Here

SERVICE, VALUE ARE STRESSED

Change to Summer Lubrication Is Urged By Company

At the right appears a picture of the bulk station of the Sinclair Oil Co. distributing point for this immediate district, in charge of William R. Crisenbery.

It is the distributing point for correct lubrication and for gasoline economy, home here of the famous Sinclair H-C gasoline and Sinclair Opaline and Pennsylvania motor oils.

The Sinclair products have enjoyed a phenomenal growth not only in this district but elsewhere, in recent years. More and more motorists are flocking to the Sinclair banner because they are certain to find two things at every Sinclair station—service and satisfaction.

They have come to know the satisfaction that comes from the use of Sinclair products, the added mileage and longer life that go into every car that uses them.

Sinclair stations also have become widely known for the service standards which they have set up. Mr. Crisenbery joins with the managers of the Sinclair stations in this district in urging motorists to consider their summer lubrication problems now—while it is time to get started right.

"Drop in any Sinclair station", Crisenbery says, "consult with the attendants there, learn the correct lubrication methods and special products for your car and stick with them this summer. You'll be more than satisfied."

MOTHS BAFFLED BY CLEANLINESS

Soiled, Spotted Fabrics Favored Food Sources For Insects

Now is the time for all good housewives to wage their annual warfare against moths. According to recent estimates the toll they take in clothing and household furnishings amounts to something like a quarter of a billion dollars a year. Much of this loss is due to carelessness, but the largest part is caused by dependence upon preparations which are worthless once the eggs are deposited in the fabric.

Thorough dry cleaning is the simplest safeguard and also the most effective one. This must be done by a completely equipped plant such as The Paris Cleaners. So put your winter gowns, overcoats and other garments in the care of The Paris Cleaners before the eggs hatch into larvae and begin to feast on the fabric.

Music Is Important Factor In Leadership Development

Don Dussenberry, who has been instructor of violin and guitar for the Finley School of Music, at their studios at 132 South Broadway, for over three years, declares that every boy or girl should study some brand of music.

"Naturally," he points out, "every parent's interest is to safeguard their child's opportunity for social, material and moral progress. The study of music will do that because it focuses the interests upon the higher things in life, the finer things and the things that lead young men and women to loftier stations, often to life leadership."

"Music coordinates the mind and the nervous system as does no other known study. It accelerates the action of the brain in a manner that promotes lightning-like thinking. It educates the mind to quick, accurate judgment, an all-important factor in life. It develops imagination and taste and provides an invaluable avocation."

"The Finley Music Co. can help you through its musical advancement plan to play your favorite instrument for it will furnish you the instrument you choose with a course of private lessons and when the course is completed the instrument becomes your personal property."

"The Finley Co. will welcome the opportunity to talk over with you the planning for your child's future in music."

Dr. Hugo Eckener, famous German dirigible expert and designer of the ill-fated Hindenburg, is shown as he arrived in New York on the Europa, where he rushed to the bedside of Capt. Max Preuss, the Zep's commander, to get the latter's own story of the catastrophe.

HOW MUCH CASH MUST YOU HAVE?

Social Security May Provide Some—How About Remainder?

Can you live on $42.50 monthly? "This," points out Don Burcaw, special representative here for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co., "is about the average that social security will provide if it is unchanged. That is not a livable income. So you do have a real problem—how to provide at least decent comforts for your rocking chair days."

"And there is only one answer. Take enough income insurance to provide those comforts. And then, if every other resource fails, your insurance will be there to fall back on. In addition to this security for yourself, this arrangement provides that your family will get the benefit if you fail to reach retirement age."

"You should understand too, that this arrangement guarantees income as long as you live. No other financial investment combines the advantages of protection of your income and protection of your family."

"Life insurance is appropriately named, because in modern life insurance you don't have to die to win. The law of averages begins to work for you the day you take a life contract."

SAFETY RESTS ON HEADLIGHTS

All the Light Possible Is None Too Much For Night Driving

Correct headlights are being stressed more and more by police departments in cities throughout the country, as well as highway patrols and other law enforcement authorities.

The fact has been recognized for long that the accident factor is increased tremendously after dark.

There are two considerations entering into the matter of decreasing accidents during the darkness period. One, of course, is carelessness on the part of the person who is operating the automobile. The other is light.

Accidents will happen with "all the light in the world" during the daytime.

This being true, it can be seen readily that all the illumination possible at night from an automobile's headlights is none too much.

The motorist who trusts to luck rather than a pair of far-reaching headlights jeopardizes not only himself but his passengers every time he takes to the road.

It is not necessary any more to buy complete new headlight assembly when your old ones lose their brilliancy. The E. L. Grate Motor Co. simply resurfaces the reflectors, and the reflectors, in the final analysis, are the instruments which throw the light beam out onto the road in front of the car.

The process used by the E. L. Grate Co. is known as pure silver plating and makes most reflectors anywhere up to 20 per cent more efficient than ever.

The added safety and convenience, for night driving, more than make up for the small fee charged.

Good Seed First Qualification In Good Gardening

No matter how diligently the farmer works, how much care he exercises in the planting of his seed, how much work he expends in fertilization and cultivation, the effectiveness of all of his efforts are lost if the seed with which he starts is not good.

This may apply equally to the professional agriculturist who tills vast tracts or the office or plant worker who cultivates a small patch of beans, onions, lettuce or tomatoes in the back yard.

The Salona Supply company invites gardeners to inspect their stock of seed and all other garden needs. They handle Holmes bulk seeds, also small packets of garden and flower seeds, fertilizer, peat moss, etc.

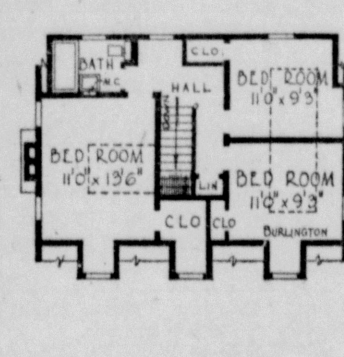

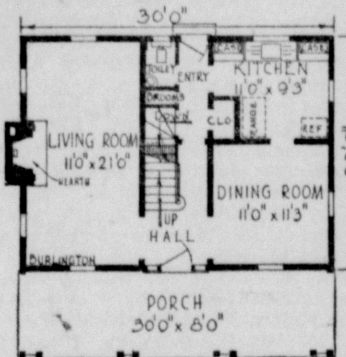

They will be glad to consult at any time on your problems in respect to seed and other garden needs.

NEW DE SOTOS ARRIVE IN CITY

First Shipment Since Operations Resume at Factory

A shipment of new DeSotos has just been received by the Harris Garage and Storage company, DeSoto-Plymouth dealer in this city, Frank Harris, head of the firm, reports.

This is the first shipment since the new and modern DeSoto plant resumed operations this month. Other cars are on their way and Harris states that in spite of record demands for the new car, he expects to be able to make prompt delivery.

"Our new factory in Detroit, equipped as it is for volume production, is allowing DeSoto to swing back into normal in a very short time," Harris said. "Cars will again be rolling down the line at a one-a-minute pace within a very few days. Officials at Detroit say that shippers are keeping pace with production in rushing cars to all parts of the country."

"Public reception of the new DeSoto in Salem since its introduction in October has been the best in the history of our company. Our shipments from Detroit are far ahead of the same period a year ago while our retail sales as compared with the 1936 model have shown a gain of more than 75 per cent."

"We expect these sales gains to continue throughout the spring and summer months."

QUAKERS COP 34th ANNUAL COUNTY TRACK MEET

Many Major League Baseball Managers Are Singing Blues Earlier Than Usual

Columbiana Makes Strong Bid But Finishes Second To Salem High Thinclads

Annual Columbiana County Meet Produces Surprising Amount of Action As Four Records Are Broken; Bill Entrikey Stars

Coach Fred Cope's Salem High school tracksters secured five wins in five starts today after capturing their second straight Columbiana county track and field championship from a field of six teams out at Reilly stadium last Saturday afternoon.

Columbiana's great little team, with the Entrikey twins, Bill and Bob, Richard (Sonny) Fisher and Dewayne Anglemeyer, as its mainstays made a strong bid to remove the Quakers from the county track throne, but was forced to accept second-place honors after failing to garner enough second, third and fourth place points.

The Quakers won in 14 of the 15 events to win the meet with 61 points. Columbiana, in second position, totaled 52 points, while East Palestine finished third with 42. Lisbon scored eight points for fourth place, and Wellsview counted two points to finish fifth. Leetonia, which entered several athletes in the meet at the last minute, failed to score.

Producing a surprising amount of action for the estimated 1,500 fans, the 34th renewal of the annual meet saw four records go by the boards when only one mark was expected to be broken.

As predicted, Columbiana's 880-yard relay team of the Entrikey twins, Anglemeyer and Fisher secured a new record in its event, but the big surprise came when Max Lutsch of Salem set a new mark in the high jump, Anglemeyer broke his own record in the 220-yard high hurdles and Bill Entrikey leaped to a new record in the broad jump.

The Columbiana relay team, practically racing by itself over the 880-yard route, turned in the splendid time of 1 minute 32.2 seconds to lower the record of 1 minute 34.8 seconds it had set in 1936. East Palestine finished second in this event, but the Bulldog team was so far behind it appeared as though it were running in a different race. Lutsch pulled the unexpected when he topped the crossbar in the high jump at 6 feet 1 inch to better the former record of 6 feet even set by Smith of East Palestine in 1931.

Pushed by Charles Yeager of Salem, Anglemeyer dashed over the barriers in the 200-yard low hurdles in 23.9 seconds to shatter his own mark of 24.5 seconds, made in 1936.

Bill Entrikey, who captured individual honors in the meet with 164 points, smashed the broad jump mark of 21 feet 4 1/2 inches by leaping 21 feet 8 inches. Bill Pauline of Salem held the old record.

In addition to the broad jump, Entrikey won the 220 and 440-yard dashes and anchored the Columbiana relay team to victory. Lutsch gave the second best individual performance with his win in the high jump and first place in the discus on a throw of 113 feet. Captain Paul Roelen brought the Quakers a first place in the mile in the good time of 4 minutes 37.5 seconds and finished second in the half-mile to teammate Archie Bricker. Other Salem points were scored by Bruce Whitcomb with first in the pole vault and thirds in the high and low hurdles; Yeager with seconds in the two hurdle races and third in the high jump; Howard Tibbs with second in the broad jump, third in the 220-yard dash and fourth in the 100; Harold Culler with second in the mile; Tom Tilly with second in the 440; Cliff Lowry with second in the pole vault; Stuart Wise with fourth in the javelin and the 880 and mile relay teams. The shotput was the only event in which the Quakers failed to score.

The most interesting race on the 15-event program came in the mile relay where the Salem team of Joe Marks, Jim Dickey, Bricker and Tilly, was beaten out in the last lap by East Palestine. Gray was responsible for the Bulldogs' first place in this event when he came from behind to outpace Tilly and breast the tape five yards ahead.

Summaries of the events follow: 120-YARD HIGH HURDLES—R. Entrikey (Columbiana) won; Yeager (Salem) second; Whitcomb (Salem) third; Rudloff (East Palestine) fourth. Time—15.5 seconds.

P. G. A. TOURNEY OPENS MAY 24; 120 WILL PLAY

Shute, 1936 Winner, and Thomson, Runner-up, Face Crack Field

ASPINWALL, Pa., May 17.—One of the greatest fields of American golfers will tee-off here Monday, May 24, for the 20th annual National Professional Golfers' Association tournament, its $9,200 prize money and the prestige title carries.

Denny Shute, of the Braeburn Country club, West Newton, Mass., the defending champion, will have to outlast the other 119 professionals in 216 holes of golf to retain his title.

Shute won the title at Pinehurst last year, defeating Jimmy Thomson from Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, 3 and 2 in 36 holes last Nov. 22.

Thomson again will be among the select 120 golfers who will play 18 holes Monday and Tuesday. The low 64 golfers after Tuesday's medal play will be paired for match play Wednesday.

Morning and afternoon matches of 18 holes each will be played Wednesday, reducing the field to 16 players for Thursday. On Thursday the 16 will be paired for matches of 36 holes each. On Friday the quarter-finalists—eight players—will play 36 holes. Saturday the semi-finalists—four players—will battle it out over 36 holes, as will the finalists on Sunday.

The winning player gets $1,000, the losing finalist gets $500. Quarter-finalists get $250 each. In addition all qualifiers are paid round-trip railroad expenses.

It was believed at least three of the members of the next American Ryder cup team would be selected from the golfers who make the best showing in the P. G. A.

Almost all the better-known golfers who play for money will be at the Pittsburgh Field club, a standard, medium-length course of 6,600 yards. Par is 72 with the course having 10 par-four holes, 4 par-five, and 4 par-three holes.

In addition to Shute, defending champion, and Thomson, last year's runner-up, there will be Johnny Revolta, winner in 1935; Paul Runyan, who won two years ago, and Craig Wood, runner-up in 1934.

Some of the golfers who are entered are: Gene Sarazen, Jay Laffoon, Olin Dutra, Harold McSpaden, Henry Picard, Tony Manero, 1936 open champion; Horton Smith, Bill Melhorn, Jimmy Hines, Vic Ghezzi, Ed Dudley, Byron Nelson, Diegel, Willie Goggin, Sam Snead, the winter-touring sensation from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.; Tommy Armour, Ralph Guldahl, Harry Cooper, Billy Burke and Al Espinosa.

CHUCK HAFLEY, Reds—Hit homer, triple and single, driving in four runs in 8-4 win over Athletics.

ERIC MCNAIR, Red Sox—Pinch-hit single in 12th inning brought in winning run for 6-5 victory over Senators.

VINCE DIMAGGIO, Reds—Single in 11th to send deciding run across in 3-2 win over Dodgers.

CLAUDE PASSEAU, Phillies—Shut out Giants with five hits and drove two runs in with double in 6-0 win.

JOE BOWMAN AND ARKY VAUGHAN, Pirates—Former muffed Cards with six hits; Vaughan's double drove in first run in 2-1 win.

GOLD BEACH, Ore.—Mortality among deer in this region has been unusually high this year, reports indicate. Residents of the back country say the loss has been about as great as among sheep herds on the upper ranges, which exceeds 50 per cent.

Habits Of Ball Players Are Many And Varied

Medwick Always Pounds Fist Into Glove Before Catching Fly; Lucas Never Steps On Foul Lines; Hubbell Wears Long Pants

NEW YORK, May 17.—The habits of ball players are many and varied. Here are some of them:

Buddy Hassett, Brooklyn first baseman—Never yells anything in the field, but "You can do it."

Burgess Whitehead, Giants' second baseman—Throws his legs around like a frog when he's fielding a grounder and making the throw.

Buddy Myer, Washington second baseman—Always dives at grounders hit past him in an effort to knock them down and prevent extra base hits.

Meti Ott, Giants' outfielder—After the pitcher makes his delivery and there's no play, he always punches the grass several times with his foot.

Joe Medwick, Cardinals' outfielder—When he camps under a high fly, he always pounds his fist into his glove several times while waiting for the ball to come down.

Jimmy Bucher, Brooklyn third baseman—When he's at bat and has to fall down dodging a pitch, he always lies on the ground long enough to pick up a hand full of dirt and throw it down. Sometimes it flies right back in his eyes.

Lefty Gomez, Yankees' pitcher—Hitches his pants up 50 to 100 times a game when he's pitching.

Lou Gehrig, Yankees' first baseman—Holds bat on shoulder and bends knees in jack-knife fashion when he's at plate waiting for a pitch.

Dick Bartell, Giants' shortstop—Squaddles legs, hitches up trousers and wipes off his right hand all at the same time.

Peaches Davis, Cincinnati pitcher—Only pitcher in majors who doesn't use a windup.

Kiki Cuyler, Cincinnati outfielder—Touches visor of cap almost continuously in outfield and at bat.

Red Lucas, Pittsburgh pitcher—Never steps on foul lines when going to and from the dugout.

Leo Durocher, Cardinals' shortstop—Always moves other shortstop's glove when he takes his place in the field.

Carl Hubbell, Giants' pitcher—Wears pants half-way down legs like a pair of knickers.

Bogers Hornsby, Browns' manager—Always knocking "mud" off heels of shoes with his bat even on a dry day when there's no mud.

Sam Leslie, Giants' infielder—Never yells anything but, "Shake 'Em Up!"

Fred Fitzsimmons, Giants' pitcher—Wheels around and turns his back to batter before delivering a pitch.

Placentia Nine Loses To Canton Team In 1937 Season Opener

Rain halted the second game of Lake Placentia's scheduled double-header yesterday, but before the downpour set in, the Lakers gave away to their 1937 season by dropping a 6-5 decision to the Canton Sugar-dawgs.

Although out-hitting the Packers, the Placentia nine couldn't place its safe blows in the right spots. Canton, on the other hand, patted the pill in the pinches to score the needed runs. Houtz' homer in the seventh inning with two men on the sacks proved the downfall of Placentia.

The Lakers attempted to rally in the last half of the seventh, but their spurt was cut short by a fast double play with the bases filled.

EXPECT 3 TEAMS TO BATTLE FOR BUCKEYE TITLE

Miami, Ohio U and Wesleyan Seek Buckeye Loop Track Lead

DELAWARE, May 17.—The 12th annual Buckeye conference track meet, scheduled here Friday and Saturday, loomed today as a wide open battle between Miami, Ohio Wesleyan and Ohio university, with the Redskins of Oxford, defending champions, rating the slightest of edges.

Miami won the crown a year ago in the closest meet ever staged in the Buckeye. The Redskins won with 66 1/2 points, while Wesleyan had 62 1/2 and Ohio U, 61 1/4. Cincinnati was fourth with 28 1/2, and Marshall wound up in the cellar with 5.

Marshall's thundering herd is not slated to compete this year, but Dayton, back in the track wars after an absence of several years, will make it a five-man race.

Miami rates its slight edge to repeat through a 77 to 54 dual meet win over Ohio Wesleyan. Both teams feature all-around strength rather than individual stars. Cincinnati's trackless team, which has no adequate field for practice purposes this year, is hoped to finish behind the darkhorse Ohio U. Bobcats, while Dayton appears doomed to wind up in last place unless the Flyers uncover a host of stars.

The dope, figured on past performances, indicates that Miami should score first in the sprints with Bob Mills turning the trick. Larry Bell appears in a class by himself in the javelin, with several heaves beyond the 200-foot mark, while Wical in the half-mile, Solars in the pole vault, Williams in the shot-put, and Hall in the two-mile appear as other point-scorers for the Redskins.

Gibson Diehl, Dayton sophomore, is Wesleyan's ace. He looms as the boy to beat in both hurdles and the broad jump. Bob Becker, the league champion, is sure to score points in the high jump, and Pat Brooks should help Wesleyan's cause in the shot-put.

Ohio has an ace sprinter and quarter-mile in Cunningham, and the best discus tosser in the loop in Johnson, but do not seem to have the all-around strength necessary to take the meet. Cincinnati has few outstanding stars, Doan Hauck, high jumper, being the best bet of the Bearcats.

Dayton is the unknown quantity, but due to its long layoff from track and field it is expected to cut little figure in the title chase.

Pirates Continue Fast Pace In National Loop With Win Over St. Louis

Bucs Leading League by 3 1/2 Games; Most Managers Singing Blues Despite Early Season; Chicago Cubs' Injured List Continues to Increase

Just four weeks ago today, big league baseball lifted the curtain on its annual follies—and already a lot of the production heads are yelling for more aspirin.

Outside of Pie Traynor there isn't a director in the show without a full-sized headache.

To mention only a few, there's suffering Steve Neill, who can't do a thing for the away-from-home jitters of his Cleveland Indians; and Bill Terry, who wonders why the second-division clubs always pick up his Giants; and Charley Grimm, whose injured list is so long and still growing that he's thinking of installing hospital cots in the club clubhouse.

The weekend added a few more pains to these sufferers and a lot of others, but for Traynor and Neill, the Moguls—particularly the latter—everything was beer and skittles. The faithful turned out all over both circuits yesterday, with some 180,000 cash customers jamming through the gates.

Traynor couldn't find a thing to worry about even if he looked for it. His Pirates, at their current pace are going to be about as easy to catch as Jesse Owens. Continuing to show their new-found "zip" they knocked off the Cardinals again yesterday 3-1 to take a 3 1/2 game hold on first place in the National league.

Joe McCarthy, Yankees pilot found the clouds disappearing as his revamped lineup regained first place in the American league by topping the Athletics 8-4 before 38,728 fans, largest Shibe park crowd since the championship days of '29, '30 and '31. Rookie Tom Henrich did the heavy clouting and Red Ruffing made a seven-hit 1937 pitching debut.

Cleveland's Indians, dropping a 6-4 decision to the White Sox in Chicago, maintained their record in their away-from-home games this season. They've played four, and have lost four times.

The Giants, still third in the National league, would be a lot higher if they could get by those second-division outfits. Claude Passeau blanked them 6-0 for the Phillies yesterday, marking the eighth time out of 11 losses this year that the league champions have been belted around by second-division troublemakers.

For a few moments, things looked brighter for Charley Grimm yesterday, with Catcher Gabby Hartnett and Pitcher Tex Carleton returning to the Cubs from the hospital list. But Hartnett went right back on with a split finger, and Carleton, as relief pitcher, lost a 3-2 decision to the Cincinnati Reds. Chick Hafey, at bat for the first time in two years, drove in the winning run with a fly in the ninth.

COURT UPHOLDS REVENUE PLAN

Louisiana Chain Store Tax Statute Also Approved

The Anniston Manufacturing company of Alabama seeking to recover $269,854 paid as taxes under the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

A major requirement of the 1936 revenue act was that all taxpayers in order to obtain a refund prove that they had not passed the cost of the levy to the consumer or anyone else but bore it themselves.

Justice McReynolds dissented but wrote no opinion.

Other provisions of the act require the filing of new claims for refund and prohibit maintenance of suits except on appeal to a treasury department board of review from a ruling by the commissioner of internal revenue. Appeals then could be carried to the federal circuit courts and to the supreme court.

POLICE HUNTING SLAYER OF GIRL

Injured Boy's Talk Only Aid In New York Mystery

BULLETIN
NEW YORK, May 17.—Police said today that Mrs. Helen Tiernan, 28-year-old attractive waitress, confessed she killed her 8-year-old daughter, Helen, and assaulted her 5-year-old son, James, in woods near Brookhaven, Long Island.

(By Associated Press)
BROOKHAVEN, N. Y., May 17.—The incoherent talk of an injured 4-year-old boy today was the only aid to Suffolk county police in their search for a solution to the brutal murder of the boy's 8-year-old sister.

The children remained unidentified. Raymond Cataldo of Riverhead, who thought they were his children whom he had not seen for a number of years, later found that his children were safe with their mother in Brooklyn.

Throat Cut, Body Burned
The girl's body was found yesterday afternoon in a thicket a hundred yards east of this south shore Long Island village. Her throat was slashed and her body was burned. Gasoline had been poured on her clothing and ignited.

The little boy, who said he was her brother, was found a few feet away. He lay as if asleep. He had been stabbed and also burned.

Police said an effort apparently had been made to kill them both with a knife or axe, the slayer attempting to cover up evidence by burning both bodies.

The girl's throat was cut, and her body was badly blistered across the shoulders, along the back, and down the legs. Her hands were lacerated. Police said they believed she had died of the burns.

The boy had a four-inch gash in his throat, but at the hospital attendants said he was expected to recover. His clothing was singed, but he was not seriously burned.

The girl's body was found by a young couple walking through the thicket. Investigators found the boy lying down as if asleep about two hours later. Medical men believed the attacks had been about 12 hours before.

Have Few Clues
The only clues the police had at first were the feverish replies of the little boy to their many questions, but he was incoherent in many cases.

"Joe did it," the boy mumbled.

"Mommy's hurt, too."

But later he said "Mommy hurt us," and then "Joe bought us ice cream and then hurt."

"Where did you go after dinner today?" he was asked. "In the woods," he replied, struggling with his words.

Early today there had been reported missing no children answering the description of the little pair.

A butcher knife and a pair of scissors, both bloodstained, and an unstained axe were found near where the children were discovered. A bottle partly filled with gasoline also lay nearby.

LEVY ON CHAIN STORES UPHELD

Louisiana Statute Constitutional, Supreme Court Rules

in Louisiana or are in part the result of extra-state transactions."

"It is not a denial of due process," he added, "to adjust such license taxes as are here involved to meet the local evil resulting from business practices and superior economic power even though those advantages and that power are largely due to the fact that the taxpayer does business not only in Louisiana but in other states."

Sutherland Dissents

Justice Sutherland in his dissent said "the action here involved is not a tax upon Louisiana property or business, but is essentially a penalty imposed upon an operator of business wholly beyond the reach of the law of that state."

A number of states have levied special taxes against chain stores but they were based on the number of units operated within the state. The supreme court has upheld such taxes.

Other challengers of the Louisiana law included P. W. Woolworth company, J. C. Penny company, Montgomery Ward & company, Sears, Roebuck & company, and Liggett Drug company.

We will award two fine GRUEN Watches in a few days the GIANT WATCH tells!
Who... will be the lucky GRADUATES
See this Giant Watch on display in our window. When it stops, the hands will point out the lucky winners. The two fortunate graduates will indeed be very happy over these wonderful awards. We know they will give great pleasure and serve a daily usefulness for years to come. For no other watch represents such fine quality and recognized worth as a GRUEN.
